

Call for proposals for new members of the Danish Cancer Society's scientific committees

The Danish Cancer Society (DCS) invites institutions, institutes, and scientific societies actively involved in cancer research to submit proposals for two new members of the scientific committees.

The Central Board yearly grants each committee a budget for allocation in free competition to high-quality, cancer-relevant research projects. On request, the committees may comment on questions or, on their initiative, make statements to the Executive Committee on professional matters within the committee's field of competence. The Central Board elects the new members based on a concise, professional nomination of candidates proposed by the scientific committees.

The two committees consist of Danish (60%) and international (40%) researchers and have 13 and 19 members, respectively, of whom two are patient representatives. Each committee has three meetings a year. The Danish Cancer Society encourages researchers from foreign institutions to be nominated to ensure the committee's competence to act.

The DCS' Scientific Committee - People & Society (KBVU-MS)

The committee covers the humanistic, social, public health and epidemiological cancer research areas. It assesses about 60-120 applications, primarily in the Spring and some in Autumn, for the meetings in April and September. There is one vacant member seat to be occupied by an experienced, active researcher with the following expertise

- Clinical epidemiology – 1 member

The DCS' Scientific Committee – Biology & Clinic (KBVU-BK)

The committee covers the biological, translational, clinical, and epidemiological cancer research areas. It assesses about 160-240 applications, primarily in the Spring and some in September, for the meetings in May and September. There is one vacant member seat to be occupied by an experienced, active researcher with the following expertise

- Cellular therapies and immunology – 1 member from abroad

Suggested candidates must be from abroad to balance the committee's number of members from foreign institutions.

The proposals must be written in English.

Questions can be directed to the Head of Funding, Christina Koefoed-Hansen, at ckh@cancer.dk.

Send motivated proposals for candidates of a maximum of 1 A4 page, along with a short CV and publication list of 5 A4 pages in total (it must not exceed this) to forskningsbevilling@cancer.dk.

Deadline for proposals: 21 August 2025, 12:00
